

I love my job because...

It's the best job you could ever wish for! I get a buzz every single day – there's always something that makes me smile when I'm with the people I support.

I get a buzz coming into work in the morning, seeing people come in with a smile. You don't know what reaction you're going to get from them, so on the days they come up to you and start talking, it's amazing!

It gives me a buzz to know I'm supporting people to live their best life; helping with their wellbeing, their hobbies, to know I'm helping them and that they realise that too.

When people are leaving at the end of the day, if you ask them if they've had a good day and they can say to you 'yes, I've had a great day', then – job done!

I just love coming to work. I do have a good job – I love the fact that you can put smiles on people's faces and you can turn a bad day into a good day for them. It could be solving a problem for them, big or small.

I love my job because it's lovely to see people going home happy at the end of the day. It's really rewarding – I never feel like I don't want to get up and come into work. I look forward to coming and I enjoy being here.

The best thing about my job is how rewarding it is – I go home feeling I've made a difference and you can't beat that!

I love my job because I'm making a difference to young people coming out of school and college, putting a service in place for them at Escape. But not for just them, it's about supporting their parents to live their best life too.

... it's making a positive difference and getting to know that you make a difference – because you don't always get to know that you have; it's not always obvious.
